CALL FOR PRESENTATION

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

Continuing the successful tradition of previous years, we are happy to announce GSC 2020—the annual meeting of graduate students in the field of Control and Systems Theory (in the wide sense). Due to the ongoing coronavirus pandemic, the event will be held online on Monday, May 4, 2020, and will be organized by the School of Electrical Engineering at Tel Aviv University.

As always, the meeting is intended as a platform for exchanging ideas among students and senior faculty members from various departments and institutions in Israel. In more detail, the meeting provides:

- A unique opportunity for graduate students to present their work before a professional audience and obtain feedback on it.
- A chance for the graduate students to observe the work of their peers and get acquainted with the Israeli Faculty and Industry in their field.
- An opportunity for the supervisors, to learn about each other's current research interests.

We solicit 20 minutes presentations by students. The required submission information is detailed at the end of this call. Priority will be given to graduate students who are in the final stages of their research. However, significant partial results may also be included. Please provide the material requested below by April 5, 2020.

As in past years, the GSC Award will be conferred to an outstanding paper presented at the workshop. Students who wish to be considered for this award are encouraged to submit supporting material according to the regulations located on the web site of IAAC—the Israeli Association for Automatic Control at: <http://iaac.technion.ac.il/education/GSCAwardRules.pdf>

The success of the event depends on the participation of both the students and the faculty members, and we hope that you and your students will be able to join us.

We would appreciate your help in spreading this call to relevant faculty members who may not be on our mailing list—especially newcomers and researchers with related interests.

We look forward to receiving your contributions!

With best wishes,

Anatoly Khina and Michael Margaliot
GSC 2020 organizers
